

CAMPS FOR GIRL GUIDES

The leaders of the Girl Guides of the district, at their meeting in the Y.W.C.A. recreational centre last night, made arrangements for a leader's camp at Long Island. It was announced by Miss Dorothy Purdy, the commissioner, who presided, that Miss G. Lodder, the dominion organizing secretary, would be able to come to St. John and would take charge of the leaders' camp. The leaders are going into camp with the idea of training so as to have authority to conduct a camp for the girls in July. It is hoped that all the guides in the district, about 100 in all, will be able to join the July camp and the present intention is to hold the girls' camp on Long Island also.

1923 GIRL GUIDES' CAMP AT PURDY'S POINT

Rothesay Troop Now Under Canvas – Other Groups Also Enjoy Experience in camp Life.

No central camp for all of the Girl Guides of the province has been arranged this year, but some of the troops will have their own summer camp. The first troop to get under canvas was the Rothesay Troop, of which Miss Dorothy Purdy is the captain. The troop is now camping at Purdy's Point, Land's End, where tents were pitched on Saturday. St. Paul's Troop, the Fifth St. John, leaves next week for its summer camp on at Beesley's Point on the St. John River below the Cedars. The St. John troop will be in charge of its captain, Miss Irene Barber, and will number in its contingent of about twenty-four, seven members of the Trinity, No. 1 St. John Troop. Later in July the troop in St. Stephen, of which Miss Elsie Lawson is the captain, will have a summer camp in Charlotte County. The St. Stephen troop is getting ready to act as guard of hour for Lady Byng during her visit there. There will be more than thirty guides in the Guard of Honour.

1924 104 GIRL GUIDES TO CAMP TODAY

Ten Officers in Command of Company at Oak Point Outing.

The girl Guides go out to their summer camp at Oak Point today, a band of 104 Guides with 10 officers, one of the largest camps that has yet been held by the Guides. Early in July the St. John district guides will be joined at Oak Point by a company from Fredericton. The St. John camp will last until July 7 and will have as its grand final event a field day on July 5. The companies, which will be represented at camp, are Trinity, St. Paul's, St. James, Knox and Stone church, and the three Rothesay companies.

Miss Dorothy Purdy, district commissioner, will be camp director and the other officers attending will be Miss Catherine McAvity, Miss Ruth Starr and miss Jean Angus, for the Rothesay companies; Miss M. Knight, Trinity; Miss Irene Barber, St. Paul's; Miss Florence Allan, St. James, and Mrs. Arnold Gibbon and Miss Edythe Mitchell, Knox. The party will leave on the steamer Hampton today.

The camp programme promises to be an interesting one with opportunity for learning many of the crafts in which Girl Guides are interested. Miss K.M. Stewart, of Fredericton, is to be camp nurse, and Miss Lilian Raymond will be physical director. The programme of sports will be a special feature of the camp.

Several Campers Win Badges of Various Kinds – Those In Charge

The members of the 2nd and 3rd Rothesay companies of Girl Guides are home from their summer camp, sun burnt and sturdy after their happy fortnight under canvas at Purdy's Point. They were favored with more thunder and lighting than is usually experienced in that length of time, but mostly the storm came at night time and did not interfere with camp routine or camp pleasures.

Miss Dorothy Purdy, captain and district commissioner, was the camp director, and was assisted by Miss S. Amdur, of 10th Saint John company, during the first week. The other camp officers were Miss K. Peters and Miss Helen Cannell. [. . .]

Another important evening was the visit of the boys from the Wiggins Orphanage camp on Monday night. There was a hotly contested game of baseball, boys vs. girls, and the boys were undisputed victors.

Much Interest Being Taken This Year in Various Girl Guide Camps in Province

The first of the Girl Guide camps in New Brunswick will close their successful outing today when the three companies at Mill Lake, Utopia, Charlotte county, return to Saint John. Mrs. D. Arnold Gibbon, Girl Guide camp officer for this province, reports that in numbers, attending individual camps and in the numbers of Girl Guide camps in this province, this year will show an increase over last year's records. There are still a few of the companies which have applied for permission to hold camps that have not received authority as yet.

Those camps, which have already been arranged for, total eight. The second Rothesay company went under canvas at Purdy's Point, on June 26, and will break camp on July 10. It is in charge of Miss Dorothy Purdy and has about 20 girls attending

UNITED STATES GUIDES SEEK ASSISTANCE FROM CANADIAN GIRL ASSOCIATION

Mrs. H. D. warren, Chief Commissioner, Gives Address at Reception

Girl Guide camps are so very successfully conducted in Canada that the United States Girl Scouts have appealed to this county for assistance and direction in conducting similar camps in their country where camping in the past has been a somewhat different undertaking to camping for Girl Guides in this country. Mrs. H. D. warren, Chief Commissioner of Girl Guides in Canada, in speaking of this fact in her informal address at the reception tendered in her honour on Saturday afternoon in the Admiral Beatty Hotel by the New Brunswick Council of Girl Guides said that last year a special request had been received for two Guiders from Canada to assist in demonstrating Canadian methods of camping for the United States Girl Guides. The under canvas camp with the girls themselves doing all the chores has not been the method followed in the United States, and that was the method which was being demonstrated.

Mrs. Warren spoke of the origin of the Girl Guide movement, saying that when the Boy Scouts became so active an organization the girls did not wish to be left out and a similar organization was developed for them. They were first called Girl Scouts, and they still were known by that name in the United States where the movement is very strong. The uniform selected was chosen because it was most serviceable and most universally becoming. She recalled how the Boy Scouts' organization had its founding in the troop organized by Sir Robert Baden-Powell at Mafeking.

GIRL GUIDES BACK FROM CAMP HELD AT DOUGLAS HARBOUR

Outing Enjoyed by Members of Saint John District Organizations

There were 80 Girl Guides under canvas at the successful Girl Guide camp held at Douglas Harbor, Grand Lake, from June 29 to July 15, with Miss Ruth Starr, the divisional secretary in charge and five different companies represented among the Guides attending. It was one of the largest companies represented among the Guides attending. It was one of the largest Girl Guide camps that has been held in recent years, and besides learning all of the fascinating occupations which camping implies, the guides accomplished great things in second class and first class guide work, which included first class hikes, patrol hikes, and company hikes, and also had great success guide work, which included first class hikes, patrol hikes, and company hikes, and also had great success in preparing to qualify for proficiency badges as cooks, swimmers, athletes, and pioneers, and for the badge as child nurse and the health badge.

The camp site is a very picturesque one, and the camp won much commendation at the time of the official inspection by Miss Dorothy Purdy, District Commissioner for Kings county, the Divisional Commissioner, Mrs. Hugh Mackay, and the divisional camp advisor, Mrs. Arnold Gibbon.

the kindergarten play and will be assisted by Miss Audrey Allison of Rothesay. Miss Louise Betts, a graduate of Mount Allison who is now in Sackville, will be the camp dietician and Miss Dorothy Purdy, Girl Guide Commissioner, will be a member of the staff. The camp will be continued until August 21. Tents will not be used but there will be as much out of door life as is practical.

INTERNATIONAL FEATURE IN N.B. CHILDREN'S CAMP

Farm Camp on Long Reach is Proving Highly Successful

With children from the United States and small folk from this country also attending there has been established on the Long Reach in the St. John River a camp for younger children, something quite new in New Brunswick and something that is admirably proving its great value. "The Farm Camp on the Long Reach," it is called and the children there are as happy as sandboys, with infinite variety of outdoor joys in beach woods, and countryside, indoor recreation in as great variety on rainy days, and all the luxury of modern city conveniences. They are brown and sturdy youngsters, enjoying every minute of the day. The Farm Camp is for girls of 6 to 12 years and boys from 6 to 8 years, a recreation camp where they can become familiar with all the health-giving pleasures the out-of-doors affords, grow plumb an strong with the nourishing and appetizing good things of farm produce, and best of all, be directed in how to find their own greatest aptitudes and enjoyments.

The farm camp is located by the sandy beach with tall evergreen trees on the Long Reach which is known as Pinehurst. The camp has entered on its eight-weeks season of this year with much zest. Miss A. M. MacKeen, B.A., who has had charge of the graduate students' residence at Simmons College, Boston, is camp director and the supervision of the children is vested in Miss Joan Armitage, who is already a well-known good friend of many New Brunswick children. There are always not more than three children for each counselor at the camp.

Some preliminary plans were made for the holding of summer camps and there was some discussion regarding the advisability of establishing a permanent camp in this district. In the absence of the President, Mrs. Murray MacLaren, the meeting was presided over by Mrs. Hugh Mackay, Divisional Commissioner.

All of the Girl Guide companies in the district except one were represented in the Guiders present last night.

Girl Guides To Build Cabin At Boar's Head

The Girl Guides of Saint John and their friends are having a very busy and happy time making plans for the building of a log cabin at the camp site at Boar's Head.

This beautiful piece of land, situated at the mouth of the Kennebecasis River, five miles above the reversing Falls on the St. John river was given to the Guides by Sir Douglas and Lady Hazen. It forms part of the original grant to the Hazen family about the year 1765, which was 18 years before the arrival of the Loyalists in Saint John. It is overshadowed by Boar's Head and has a lovely beach. There are many springs of good water on on the site and it is protected by high lands on each side. The Guides who camped there last summer found it ideal. Now plans are on foot to build a good size cabin on the site. . .

Guides' Camp Will Mark Anniversary Of The Organization

May 13, 1939
Haley

By Amelia

A Fitting celebration of the 30th anniversary of the organization of Girl Guides coincides with the holding of the Second National Camp this year at Rothesay, N.B. from July 14 to 22.

Through the interest and kindness of the late Most Rev. John A. Richardson, Archbishop of Fredericton, and of right Rev. W. H. Moorhead, Bishop of Fredericton, the Synod of the Diocese of Fredericton and the Board of Governors of the Rothesay Collegiate School, the grounds and buildings of this school have been placed at the disposal of the National Campers coming from all parts of the Dominion of Canada.

National Camp regulations allow 25 representatives from each province, consisting of four commissioners, eight Guiders and 13 Guides or rangers.

New Brunswick, rich in historic interest, majestic in scenic grandeur can offer no spot surpassing the serene beauty of the Kennebecasis River as it flows by the banks of Rothesay. So with ideal surroundings and the warmth of a New Brunswick welcome, arrangements made for entertainment and full facilities of camp programs, our visitors must feel assured that the national camp in New Brunswick will afford not only pleasure to them, but will add a vital chapter to the history of Guide development.

A short synopsis of some high points in Girl Guide history may be of interest at this time. The Girl Guide movement was started in England in 1909 and in that very year the first Girl Guide Company was formed in Canada at St. Catharine's, Ont.

Organization of the Girl Guides emerged from Lord Baden-Powell's scheme of Boy Scouts and was planned and made adaptable for girls. With its mesmeric appeal to children the movement quickly spread throughout England and gradually developed in the overseas dominions. In the Dominion of Canada east and West were soon allied by the spirit of Guiding the Province of Nova Scotia, forming its first company in 1911, and British Columbia in 1912. Up until 1912 all these first companies were registered with the parent headquarters in England. By 1912, however the demand for Girl Guides in Canada became so strong it was necessary to establish a Dominion Council thereby furnishing Canadian companies with their own National headquarters.

Council Formed

The formation of this Dominion Council was brought about chiefly through the efforts of Lady (Mary) Pellatt, who called a meeting in Toronto inviting representatives of various national organizations of women and others who had shown keen interest. From this meeting the first Dominion Council was established and its membership drawn from women preeminently associated with Canadian girls and identified with many humanitarian and philanthropic efforts. Mrs. H. D. Warren, Chief Commissioner for Canada was a member of this first council and has continued through the years to give generously of time and ability in the direction of Guide work.

Wives of our governor-generals are honorary presidents of the Dominion Council and wives of lieutenant-governors are honorary vice-presidents. All have taken in turn a most encouraging interest in Guide Work and have made in various ways distinctive contributions to its progress.

records of Guide Work in the War years show that in 1916 there were 7 000 children in Canada registered as Girl Guides. By their own efforts they made and contributed $850 towards a fund for Guides recreation Hut for British soldiers in France.

The First Canadian Company formed raised $600 for the Trafalgar Day Campaign. Other Guide Companies in Canada made splendid contributions of clothing and money but we single out St. Catharine's war time work to prove the possibilities of achievement- even with children- when unity of purpose, enthusiasm and earnestness govern such efforts. At the conclusion of the war over 400 service badges were awarded to Guides.

Following the War and over 400 service badges were awarded to Guides.

Following the War and during the years known as the "Reconstruction Period" Guiding in Canada seemed to concentrate on its program of service to others, and both Guides and Guiders found many places where their services were most welcome and useful.

By 1921 the Dominion Council became aware of the need for provincial councils and at intervals these were formed. In 1934 all nine provinces in the Dominion had provincial councils functioning under three sections, viz.: the province, the division and the district, with three corresponding grades of commissioners. These commissioners are appointed by the Chief Commissioner for Canada.

All affairs concerning Guide work in a province are brought before the provincial commissioner through the local commissioners, as all Girl Guide work whether within a company or within the executive organization is based essentially on teamwork, co-operation and goodwill.

The honor of having the First Girl Guide Company in the Province of New Brunswick goes to Hampton N.B., where through the active interest of the late Mrs. John McAvity a company was formed in 1915 with Mrs. Guy Humphrey Captain and the first Guider in the province.

In the city of Saint John the first Company was attached to Trinity Church and was registered as "1st Saint John Company".

Formation of a Provincial Council for New Brunswick was undertaken in June 1926 under the patronage and chairmanship of Mrs. W. F. Todd, St. Stephen, wife of the late Lieutenant Governor Todd. This meeting was held in Saint John. Mrs. Todd's work resulted in the appointment by the Chief Commissioner of Mrs. W. S. Alison, of Rothesay as New Brunswick's first provincial commissioner. Mrs. W. A. I. Anglin was named secretary-treasurer and the first district commissioners appointed in the province were: Miss Dorothy Purdy of Rothesay, N. B., and Miss Elsie Lawson of St. Stephen, N.B.

The late Mrs. Allison brought to her duties as Provincial Commissioner not only initiative ability but traits of a kindly character which in no small measure helped the progress of those early years.

By 1929 Guide Districts had grown to such an extent that Divisional areas were established. St. John and Kings County were united in Division No. 1 and Mrs. Hugh Mackay of Rothesay appointed First Division Commissioner.

The Longest record of continued service as Captain and Guider in any company of our province is held by Miss Florence Allan, who served as Captain of the Company attached to St. James Church, Broad Street, and known as "The 7th Saint John Company" from 1920 to 1938 giving exceptional example of true Guider's spirit.

Great Stimulus

During the last 8 years a great stimulus has been given the Girl Guide movement in our province. This is due to several causes: increased interest by kindred associations, that is organizations sponsoring Guides, to the formation of local associations whose chief objective is the promotion of Girl Guide Compapanies, to the visit of Chief Scout and Chief Guide Lord Robert and Lady Baden-Powell and to the rally held in Saint John of all Scouts and Guides, four years ago.

A fine contribution to Guiding in this province was made by many others among who the late Mrs. Murray MacLaren, was specifically prominent in both in both interest and generosity.

In Canada today we have 55 000 enrolled as Girl Guides and in this number 2 000 New Brunswick children are included.

In our recent historic records are treasured such events as the training classes given by Guiders from both Imperial and national headquarters; the visit to New Brunswick of the Chief Commissioner, of the Dominion secretary, and the gift of Camp at Boar's Head by Lady Hazen. In two months time further history shall be made with the opening of the national Camp, the second national Camp to be held in the Dominion, the first having taken place at Victoria in 1927.

The personnel of the staff for the 1939 national Camp consists of:- Commandant, Mrs. Hugh Mackay, provincial commissioner; assistant commandant, Miss Dorothy Purdy; quartermaster, Miss Jean Daniel; group commandants, Mrs. E. Skene of Fredericton; Miss Florence Macdonald, St. Stephen; Miss Eula Rice, Edmunston; Mrs. H. I. Evans, Sussex; Miss Adeline Comeau, Atholville; Miss Annie Murray, Doaktown; Mrs. Murray Lawson, Saint John; Mrs. E. C. MacDonald, Moncton.
